

Re: Sinclair Broadcast Group

Dear Commissioner Powell and Commission members:

Broadcast companies have an obligation to serve the public interest in return for their free use of the public's airwaves. It is decidedly not in the public interest for Sinclair Broadcast Group to force its stations to air a partisan documentary about John Kerry two weeks before the election and to present it as news.

Should Sinclair Broadcast Group go forward with this plan, without a balancing presentation telling the other side of the story, it deserves to be relieved, forthwith, of its license to use the public's airwaves.

Sincerely,

Barbara E. Berg
